RISK FACTORS

A number of risks may, if they are materialized, have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa and its subsidiaries including their business, operating results and/or financial position. These risks factors could therefore have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's ability to meet its obligations, including repayment of the principal amount and payment of interest, under the Bonds and the market price of the Bonds may decline. There are risks involving circumstances pertaining to Hemfosa and risks that have no specific connection with Hemfosa, but that impact the market on which Hemfosa operates its business. This section describes risks which are considered material by Hemfosa. The order in which the risks are presented is not intended to provide an indication of the likelihood of their occurrence or of their relative significance. Additional risks that are not currently known to Hemfosa, or which Hemfosa currently deems immaterial, could also have corresponding adverse effects. The description does not claim to be exhaustive as it is not possible to foresee and describe in detail all potential risk factors. It is important that prospective investors make an independent evaluation, with or without help from advisors, of the risks associated with an investment in the Bonds.

RISKS RELATED TO HEMFOSA'S BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Risks related to macroeconomic factors

The real property industry in general, and thus Hemfosa, is affected to a considerable degree by macroeconomic factors such as the economic climate, general market trends, international, national and regional economic and political development, inflation, interest rate development, employment rate development, construction and production rate of housing and commercial premises and changes to infrastructure and demographics. An economic downturn leading to lower employment, a sharp rise in inflation or deflation could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's operations, financial position and earnings. Inflation also influences Hemfosa's property expenses. Furthermore, changes in interest rates and inflation affect the required yield and thereby the market value of the properties. Weakened macroeconomic conditions causing higher vacancy rates, higher interest rates, rising costs or lower rent levels could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating result and/or financial position.

Hemfosa's property portfolio mainly comprises community service properties, i.e. properties where tenants that, directly or indirectly, are publicly financed. Many of the premises are customized, where operations are conducted in healthcare, elderly care and other care services, law enforcement, the judiciary and educational services. Hemfosa's community service properties also comprise office space used by, among others, public authorities and municipalities. Further, rigorous demands are placed on the functionality and sustainability of community service properties. Macroeconomic factors may change the requirements and/or demands in terms of quality, functionality, size and other factors of Hemfosa's property portfolio. A decrease in the long-term demand for community service properties or a change in requirements and/or demands in relation to such properties could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to rental income and vacancy rates

Both rent levels and vacancies are highly affected by overall growth in the Nordic economy but also growth at regional and local levels where Hemfosa conducts its business. The risk of loss of rent and vacancies is also related to the tenant and contractual structure. For example, a concentration of tenants to a small number of parties leads to increased exposure, particularly if Hemfosa does not succeed in signing leases with differentiated lease terms. Hemfosa's rental income derives largely from large companies, public authorities and community services. As of December 31, 2018, Hemfosa had 3,831 leases. The ten largest tenants' share of Hemfosa's rental income as of March 31, 2019 was approximately 32 percent and the average remaining lease term was 6.6 years. Government authorities in Sweden, a major tenant category for Hemfosa, are generally not permitted to sign leases of more than six years for office premises. If tenants fail, for example due to bankruptcy, to fully meet their commitments in accordance with the lease or in other ways are unable to fulfil their obligations in relation to Hemfosa, this may also lead to higher vacancy rates with a resulting reduction in property value. As an example, one of Hemfosa's tenants, Landsforeningen for Hjerte og Lungesyke, is reportedly experiencing financial difficulties. Landsforeningen for Hjerte og Lungesyke has a 25 year lease in a property owned by Hemfosa's subsidiary Samhold IV AS (a previous joint venture with Aspelin Ramm Eiendom AS) situated in Gardermoen Campus in Norway. If one or more of Hemfosa's more important tenants does not renew or extend a lease once it has expired, this could result in reduced rental income and/or a higher vacancy rate should Hemfosa be unable to obtain equivalent income from new tenants. The general rent-level risk is attributable to the trend in current market rents. A long-term downward trend in market rents adversely impacts Hemfosa's rental income and a recession increases the risk of large-scale vacancies in Hemfosa's property portfolio. When a vacancy occurs, this could entail costs for customizing the premises for a new tenant, and a risk that the vacancy will be long-term. This could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to operating and maintenance costs

Operating expenses consist primarily of rates-based costs such as costs for electricity, waste collection, water, snow clearance and heat. Several of these costs are for goods and services that can only be purchased from one or a small number of suppliers, which limits Hemfosa's ability to negotiate the pricing of such goods and services. Furthermore, the costs for electricity, snow clearance and heat are dependent on weather conditions, which falls outside of Hemfosa's control. Hemfosa's business, operational results and/or financial position could be materially adversely effected insofar as it may not be possible to offset higher operating and maintenance costs by regulating them in the terms of the lease or renegotiating the lease to raise the rent. Unforeseen events, such as extreme weather conditions or major repairs, refurbishments or upgrades, could also have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position. Maintenance costs are primarily attributable to measures aimed at upholding the standard of Hemfosa's property portfolio in the long term or maintaining and/or modernizing it. Certain community service properties are subject to specific requirements in terms of, for example, accessibility, indoor climate and environment considerations, which can change over time. Community services such as schools may also require special adjustments or result in increased wear and tear on the property, which could entail increased maintenance costs. In order to meet demands from the market, specific tenant or legal requirements, such costs may be substantial and unforeseen, and thereby may, to the extent they are not compensated for by the tenant, have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to insufficient insurance coverage

Hemfosa's insurance cover may be insufficient to compensate for damages related to, for example, Hemfosa's property portfolio. In particular, certain types of risks (such as war, acts of terrorism, natural disasters or extreme weather conditions) may be, or may become, impossible or too expensive for Hemfosa to insure which could lead to increased costs for Hemfosa should such damage occur. Should damages to Hemfosa's property portfolio occur, there is a risk that tenants terminate or does not renew their leases. There is a risk that Hemfosa's insurance does not cover such loss of rental income. If an uninsured damage would occur, or if the damage exceeds the insurance cover, Hemfosa may lose the capital invested in such property, as well as future income from such property. Hemfosa may also be held responsible for repairing damages caused by uninsured risks. In addition, Hemfosa may be held responsible for liabilities and other financial obligations in relation to damages to its property portfolio. The above could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to Hemfosa's ability to recruit and retain qualified employees and senior executives etc.

Hemfosa's future development depends to a great extent on its employees' knowledge, experience and commitment. Key employees within the organization have built up an in-depth knowledge of, and good relationships with, the property market. As a result, Hemfosa is dependent on these key employees to a certain degree, particularly as Hemfosa's ability to successfully carry out transactions to a significant extent is based on in-depth knowledge and insight of the property categories and geographic areas where Hemfosa operates. Also consultants may have operational roles in Hemfosa on a long-term basis and therefore be important and business-critical. Several senior executives in Hemfosa have been employed by Hemfosa a relatively limited time and were recruited in connection with the demerger and spin-off of Hemfosa's subsidiary Nyfosa AB in November 2018. It is essential that Hemfosa retains and continues to motivate key employees, as well as recruit, retain, and develop other qualified employees. If key employees leave Hemfosa and suitable and experienced replacements cannot be recruited, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to transactions

Property transactions are part of Hemfosa's business and entail several risks. In order to complete an acquisition, suitable investment objects must be available at reasonable price levels. There is a risk that the demand for community service properties, or other types of properties pursued by Hemfosa, increases and thus an increase in the pricing of such properties. Further, there is a risk that Hemfosa fails to make a correct valuation of such properties. Further, competitors with similar investment strategies to Hemfosa may have access to greater financial resources and may have lower capital costs. This could cause difficulties for Hemfosa to implement its growth strategy.

Acquisitions may further be associated with risks pertaining to the seller or other operators. A seller may, for example, experience financial difficulties and therefore lack the will or means to fulfil its obligations under an agreement with Hemfosa, such as to pay compensation in connection with warranty claims. Property agents or other parties acting on someone else's behalf may, for example, act beyond the scope of their mandate or they may provide incorrect information and there are risks of disputes arising concerning the commissions paid to such middlemen.

Hemfosa further faces risks relating to financing of acquisitions. There is a risk that Hemfosa fails to make a correct assessment of required financing. Further, Hemfosa typically finances acquisitions through external credit financing, which makes Hemfosa dependent on third parties. If Hemfosa fails to make a correct assessment of required financing, if a provider of debt financing fails to fulfil its obligations or if Hemfosa fails to fulfil its obligations in relation to such provider of debt financing, this could lead to Hemfosa not being able to obtain financing or financing only being available to Hemfosa at sharply increased costs.

Hemfosa may, on one or several occasions, be required to sell all, or part of, its property portfolio in order to finance its business. There is a risk that Hemfosa may not be able to carry out such divestments on favorable terms, or at all. Should Hemfosa be required to sell all, or part of, its property portfolio, for example if Hemfosa's creditors were to realize pledged collateral, it is probable that the selling price be lower than the price Hemfosa would be able to obtain through a voluntary sale.

Unrealized changes in value with positive effects on Hemfosa's profit or loss and statement of financial position are created in cases where the fair value of a property is deemed to have risen based on the valuation performed. Such unrealized changes in value are, however, based on assumptions and judgments and the value of the property is only realized when the property in question is sold. There is a risk that the estimated and unrealized value of the properties may not be realized.

If any of the above risks pertaining to Hemfosa's acquisitions, divestments or structural transactions were to be materialized, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to geographic expansion

Hemfosa conducts operations in Sweden, Norway and Finland. As of March 31, 2019, the properties in Norway accounted for 26 percent and the properties in Finland for five percent of Hemfosa's total property value. As a step in its growth strategy, Hemfosa intends to increase its footprint and property portfolio in the Finnish market. Hemfosa has no local property management offices in Finland but cooperates with a local business partner. There are several risks connected to geographic expansion of the business. If Hemfosa continues to conduct its business in Finland through a local business partner, there may be less alignment with Hemfosa's strategy and other organization and more third party dependency, while putting in place local in-house property management resources will require finding the right people and suitable investment opportunities in Hemfosa's segment. Geographical expansion also involves exposures due to cultural differences, less experience on the local market and less familiarity with local authorities and other key stakeholders as well as macroeconomic factors on foreign markets, including currency exposure and discrepancies in corporate and real property taxation. This could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to competition

Hemfosa operates in a competitive industry. Hemfosa's current and future competitive situation is dependent on Hemfosa's knowledge of the market, financing situation, ability to remain at the cutting edge and quickly react to the existing and future needs of tenants and ability to recruit and retain talented employees. Increased or changed competition could thus have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to project development

Implementing projects featuring large-scale remodeling or new builds is an increasingly important part of Hemfosa's operations. Since Hemfosa has not traditionally specialized into project development, it may be necessary for Hemfosa to develop or deepen certain competences and relationships to successfully compete in the field. Large-scale, customized projects entail considerable investments, which could lead to an increased credit risk if Hemfosa's tenants fail to fulfill their obligations in relation to Hemfosa and Hemfosa is unable to find new tenants for the particular premises, in time or at all. Project developments may be delayed wherein tenants may be unable to use the facilities from the anticipated date or get access to premises with a lower quality than anticipated, which may result in rental payments being delayed or being less than anticipated, which may, unless compensated for, result in Hemfosa incurring lower income. Further, project developments may be more expensive than initially anticipated, which may result in Hemfosa incurring increased costs, provided such costs are not compensated for.

These risks could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to change in the value of properties

Hemfosa's properties are recognized in the balance sheet at fair value, according to the fair value method, and the change in value is recognized in the income statement. As of March 31, 2019, the value of Hemfosa's property portfolio was MSEK 36,943. The value of Hemfosa's property portfolio is affected not only by supply and demand in the market but also by a number of other factors, in part property-specific factors such as cash-flow, net operating income, prevailing leases, vacancies, maintenance condition, development potential, rent levels and operating expenses, and in part market-specific factors such as inflation, interest rates and cost of capital, market expectations, yield requirements and rent trends, which are derived from comparable transactions in the property market. If the value of Hemfosa's property portfolio, or value on similar properties on the market, sufficiently deteriorates or if Hemfosa fails to make a correct valuation of its property portfolio, this may cause the value of Hemfosa's property portfolio to decline, which could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to jointly owned companies which cannot be solely controlled

In addition to companies directly, or indirectly, wholly-owned by Hemfosa with relation to Hemfosa's property portfolio, Hemfosa from time to time holds shares in companies through which properties are owned jointly with other investors. Ownership in joint ventures is primarily regulated by shareholder agreements and consequently, Hemfosa does not have sole control over such companies. If such companies were to develop in a, for Hemfosa, disadvantageous way, or if situations arise where Hemfosa and joint ventures have competing interests, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Operational risks

Hemfosa is exposed to operational risks. Operational risks pertains to the risk of incurring losses due to inadequate, deficient and/or irregular procedures, fraud or other internal or external events causing damages to Hemfosa's business. Hemfosa has decided to have a relatively small organization. While central functions in the business are managed internally, including consolidation and analysis of financial information, Hemfosa has, inter alia, outsourced parts of the day-to-day financial management to an external service provider, including accounting, monthly reports, preparation of annual reports, tax return forms and VAT forms and payroll and lease administration. When important support functions are outsourced to external providers, it is of particular importance that Hemfosa has efficient procedures to ensure the quality of the services that are delivered. Inadequate resources, a lack of internal control and follow-up may entail risks that suppliers do not perform their duties in the desired manner, deliver on time or fulfil other requirements stipulated by Hemfosa in terms of safety, information management and quality. Weaknesses in operational safety, including the provision of services by important suppliers to Hemfosa, could result in increased costs, operational disruption and inaccurate information, which could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Technical risks

Hemfosa is, like any other owner of real property, exposed to technical risks in relation to owned real property. Technical risk pertains to the risk associated with the technical operation of properties, such as the risk of construction defects or other hidden defects or deficiencies, damages (for example due to fire or other forces of nature) and environmental hazards. If unforeseen technical problems arise, this may result in significantly increased costs for Hemfosa, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Environmental risks

Property development and property management has environmental impact, especially through construction and continuous maintenance and upkeep, but also through business conducted by tenants. As set forth by Swedish legislation, Hemfosa could, under certain circumstances, be held accountable for environmental damages caused by previous or current tenants. Legislation with similar, or more extensive, liability for Hemfosa could be applicable in Norway and Finland where Hemfosa conducts its business. This means that, under certain circumstances, claims could be made against Hemfosa for environmental damages such as soil remediation or reclamation relating to the presence or suspicion of contamination in a building, soil, catchment areas or groundwater. If any claim for remediation regarding any environmental damages related to Hemfosa's property portfolio were to be made against Hemfosa, and such claim were to result in Hemfosa being held liable for such environmental damages, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Properties with a negative environmental profile could be perceived as less attractive by tenants and have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's general standing and reputation. Further, such properties typically generate higher energy costs in relation to properties with a neutral or positive environmental profile. Further, properties with a negative environmental profile could require modifications to be reclassified as environmentally neutral or environmentally positive properties, which could lead to increased costs for Hemfosa. This could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Legal risks

Risks related to disputes, claims, inquiries and law suits

Hemfosa is from time to time involved in disputes associated with its operations. Disputes could concern claims from or on tenants, suppliers to Hemfosa or be made by authorities against Hemfosa. Disputes may also arise in conjunction with acquisitions or divestments of properties or relate to environmental conditions. Disputes and claims can be time consuming, disrupt operations, involve significant amounts and negatively impact Hemfosa's reputation and general standing. The outcome of such disputes may expose Hemfosa to unexpected costs and losses, reputational or other non-financial consequences. The actual outcome of such proceedings may, for example, not correspond to the perception on the market and Hemfosa's reputation may, as a result, be impacted in a way that does not accurately reflect the outcome of such proceedings. This could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to taxation

Tax is a significant cost item for property companies. The regulatory framework governing taxation relevant to Hemfosa is complex and comprehensive in terms of, among other things, governmental charges, corporate taxation, real property taxation, income taxation and taxation of goods and services (VAT) and can vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. The regulations governing the recognition of taxes, and the real property sector's application of these accounting regulations, are also complex. The interpretation and application of the regulatory framework by relevant authorities can change over time. Examples of regulatory changes that could have a negative impact on Hemfosa are raised tax rates, a deterioration in opportunities to utilize deductions for interest payments, a deterioration in opportunities to utilize tax-related depreciation or restrictions on opportunities to utilize loss carry-forwards. Changes in the regulatory framework governing taxation relevant to Hemfosa, or in its interpretation and application by judicial bodies or authorities, could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Further, if Hemfosa's interpretation and application the above-mentioned regulatory framework is inaccurate, in whole or in part, or if relevant authorities successfully carry out negative tax adjustments with regard to Hemfosa, Hemfosa could be exposed to increased tax costs including, but not limited to, tax surcharges and interest. There is a risk that relevant authorities will not share Hemfosa's view on, inter alia, the right to tax relief on expenses, capital allowances or loss relief. This may result in Hemfosa being under tax review by the Swedish Tax Agency or similar authority in other jurisdictions where Hemfosa conducts its business. From time to time, Hemfosa has cases under review by, and ongoing dialogs with, tax agencies in the jurisdictions where Hemfosa conducts its business. The result of such reviews or final rulings may, due to the complexity of the judicial systems, be communicated to Hemfosa long after the initiation of such review or the initial ruling. This may entail that actions taken by Hemfosa that were previously considered permissible according to the prevailing interpretation and application of the regulatory framework may need to be revised at a later date. The above could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

As of March 31, 2019, Hemfosa had deferred tax assets of MSEK 625 related to tax loss carry forwards expected to offset future profits. There is a risk that the carrying value of the deferred tax assets are over- or understated and that every adjustment of the value will have a direct impact on Hemfosa's results. Further, amendments to the applicable regulatory framework could limit Hemfosa's ability to make use of the loss carryforwards. If the Swedish Tax Agency or the relevant administrative court does not make the same assessment as Hemfosa does, it could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Regulatory risks

Most of Hemfosa's tenants conduct business which is publicly financed. As a result, Hemfosa is, to a considerable extent, dependent on relevant authorities' requirements in relation to lease agreements including, but not limited to, property ownership, leases, rental amounts, maintenance, operations, safety regulations, environmental standards and sustainability. New, amended or repealed requirements, or the application of the aforementioned, by authorities could as a result have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position. This is also the case if relevant authorities were to reach opinions that differ from those of Hemfosa or Hemfosa's tenants or other parties associated with Hemfosa's business, concerning licensing requirements, the necessity to obtain permits or other business law requirements.

Property development, and thus Hemfosa's business in this field, is subject to permits and approvals from relevant authorities unless already in place. Such permits and approvals may not be granted, in time or at all. Further, modified municipal planning may lead to local plans not being approved, causing delays and increased costs pertaining to necessary reconstruction. There is a risk that Hemfosa is not awarded necessary approvals or permits from relevant authorities or that awarded licenses, approvals or permits are revoked or appealed. The above could cause delays, increased costs and even jeopardize project realization. These risks could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Financial risks

Counterparty risks

Hemfosa's existing and potential tenants could end up in situations, for example due to economic conditions, where they are unable to pay the agreed rent on time or otherwise refrain from fulfilling their obligations. Furthermore, new development/renovation projects may be delayed due to suppliers being unable to deliver on time or contractors being unable to complete projects as planned. In case Hemfosa's counterparties are unable to, or does not intend to, fulfil their obligations in relation to Hemfosa it could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating result and/or financial position. In addition to Hemfosa's tenants, such counterparties exist when investing excess liquidity, when signing interest rate swap agreements, when issuing promissory notes and when receiving long- and short-term credits. Should these counterparties be unable to fulfil their financial obligations towards Hemfosa, could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Liquidity risks

Liquidity risk pertains to the risk that Hemfosa is unable to meet its payment obligations when they are due without a significant increase in the cost of obtaining the funds. As of March 31, 2019, Hemfosa's available liquidity amounted to MSEK 1,358 in the form of cash and cash equivalents (MSEK 828) and unutilized overdraft facilities (MSEK 530). If Hemfosa's sources of funding are not deemed sufficient, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Financing and refinancing risks

Hemfosa finances its business primarily through borrowing and its own cash flows. Refinancing risk pertains to the risk that financing cannot be obtained or renewed at the end of its maturity, or only at substantially higher costs. Property companies often have a significant level of indebtedness. As of March 31, 2019, Hemfosa's net indebtedness amounted to MSEK 21,381 of which MSEK 2,861 will be due for renegotiation or repayment in 2019, and MSEK 4,879 will be due in 2020. As of the same date, 90 percent of Hemfosa's interest-bearing liabilities was secured and 10 percent unsecured. There is a risk that debt financing cannot be obtained, or that this can be achieved only at terms that are disadvantageous to Hemfosa. Should Hemfosa fail to obtain necessary debt financing in the future, this could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to financial covenants in credit agreements

As of March 31, 2019, Hemfosa's interest-bearing liabilities consisted of a total of MSEK 22,209, comprising bank loans, bonds and commercial papers. The borrowing from credit institutions is divided primarily among seven different institutions in relation to which Hemfosa and relevant subsidiaries have made certain financial covenants, such as maintaining a certain interest-coverage ratio, loan-to-value ratio and total lowest property value in Hemfosa and approved certain restrictions relating to dividend payments in subsidiaries. Should Hemfosa or the relevant subsidiary be in breach of the financial covenants set out in any credit agreement, the credit institutions are entitled to cancel the underlying loans and this could result in other loan agreements (through cross default provisions) being cancelled for immediate repayment or in the collateral being taken over by the credit institution/s concerned. This could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to interest rate

Changes in interest rate will affect Hemfosa's interest expenses, which represent Hemfosa's single largest cost item. Interest rates are sensitive to a number of factors outside of Hemfosa's control, such as monetary politics, national and international political affair and shifts in the market. Interest rate risk could result in a change in fair value, changes in cash flow and fluctuations in Hemfosa's profit. Hemfosa is exposed to interest rate risks due to its interest-bearing liabilities. In the longer term, changes in interest rates have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's profit and cash flow, which could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Hemfosa's total interest costs for the financial year 2018 amounted to MSEK 430. The average interest rate for Hemfosa's loan portfolio was 2.09 percent as of March 31, 2019. The underlying loans carry a floating interest rate that is mainly based on STIBOR and NIBOR three months. Based on Hemfosa's annual earnings capacity as of March 31, 2019, a change in the average interest rate level of the Issuer (excluding derivative agreements) of +/- one percent would, theoretically, affect the Issuer's earnings before tax with +/- MSEK 220. In the longer term, changes in interest rates have a material negative effect on Hemfosa's profit and cash flow, which could have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to currency exposure

Hemfosa's operations in Norway and Finland exposes Hemfosa to currency risk. As of March 31, 2019, currency exposure amounted to MEUR 101 and MNOK 4,860, respectively. Hemfosa's currency risk has been identified to arise in part in connection with equity in foreign subsidiaries and in part in connection with net flows in foreign currency, as well as in connection with acquisitions and divestments of foreign companies and properties when the transactions are frequently negotiated and agreed in the period prior to taking or handing over possession and Hemfosa is exposed to currency fluctuations in the intermediary period. Unfavorable currency exchange rate fluctuations may, as a result of Hemfosa's currency exposure, have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

Risks related to the value of derivative instruments

As set out above, Hemfosa is exposed to interest rate risks due to its interest-bearing liabilities. A portion of Hemfosa's loans have a short fixed-rate period. As part of its management of interest rate risk, Hemfosa utilizes interest rate derivative instruments, through interest rate swaps and interest rate caps. Derivatives are initially recognized at fair value, entailing that transaction expenses are charged against earnings for the period. The value of interest rate swaps is recognized as the present value of the estimated flows during the position's remaining term. The estimated flows are calculated by viewing the strike level and forward rates of STIBOR three months and their volatility. If, during the term of the derivatives, the variable market interest rate deviates from the contractual fixed interest rate alternatively the contractual upper limit for the floating interest rate for the derivatives, this gives rise to a theoretical surplus or deficit value for the financial instrument. Fluctuations in interest levels could result in a change in fair value, changes in cash flow and fluctuations in the Hemfosa's profit and thus have a material adverse effect on Hemfosa's business, operating results and/or financial position.

RISKS RELATED TO THE BONDS

Risks related to macroeconomic factors

The value of the Bonds is dependent on macroeconomic factors including, but not limited to, economic climate, general market trends, international, national and regional economic and political development, inflation, deflation and interest rate development. Macroeconomic factors could likely influence, either directly or indirectly, the value of the Bonds.

Credit risks

Bondholders carry a credit risk in relation to the Issuer. The bondholders' ability to receive payment under the Terms and Conditions is dependent on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations, which in turn is largely dependent upon the performance of the Issuer's business, operating result and/or financial position. The Issuer's business, operating results and/or financial position is affected by several factors of which some are described above under the section "Risks related to Hemfosa's business and industry" and some under this section "Risks related to the Bonds". An increased credit risk, or a perceived increased credit risk, may cause the value of the Bonds to depreciate due to the market prescribing the Bonds with a higher risk premium. This could affect the value of the Bonds negatively. Another aspect of the credit risk is that a deteriorating financial position of the Issuer may reduce the Issuer's possibility to receive debt financing at the time of the maturity of the Bonds. This could have a material adverse effect on the value of the Bonds.

Interest rate risks

The value of the Bonds is dependent on a number of factors, one of the most material being interest rate levels since the Bonds will carry a floating rate interest. The Bonds will bear interest at a floating rate, by reference to STIBOR plus a certain margin. An increase in interest rate levels would likely cause the value of the Bonds to deteriorate, and a decrease in interest rate levels would likely cause the value of the Bonds to increase. Investment in the Bonds involve a risk that the market value of the Bonds may be adversely affected by changes in the interest rate level.

Changes or uncertainty in respect of STIBOR and other benchmark rates might affect the Bonds

The manner in which benchmark rates such as STIBOR are set is undergoing significant change. Benchmark rates have been the subject of recent international and other regulatory guidance and proposals for reform. Some of these reforms are already effective, including most of the EU regulation EU/2016/1011 (the "Benchmark Regulation"), which became fully effective on 1 January 2018. The Benchmark Regulation applies to the provision of benchmarks (including STIBOR), the contribution of input data to a benchmark and the use of a benchmark within the EU. The Terms and Conditions provide for certain fallback arrangements if STIBOR becomes unavailable, which could result in the effective application of a fixed rate for the Bonds, and there is a risk that the relevant fallback provisions may not operate as intended at the relevant time. Any significant change to the setting or existence of STIBOR might have a material adverse effect on the value or liquidity of, and the amount payable under, the Bonds.

Risks related to liquidity and the secondary market

The Issuer intends to list the Bonds on the sustainable bond list of Nasdaq Stockholm within 30 calendar days from the issue date. Even if the Bonds are admitted to trading on the aforementioned market, active trading in the Bonds does not always occur and a liquid market for trading in the Bonds might not occur even if the Bonds are listed. This may result in the bondholders not being able to sell their Bonds when desired or at a price level which allows for a profit comparable to similar investments with an active and functioning secondary market. Lack of liquidity in the market may have a negative impact on the market value of the Bonds. Further, the nominal value of the Bonds may not be indicative compared to the market price of the Bonds if the Bonds are admitted to trading on Nasdaq Stockholm. It should also be noted that during a given time period it may be difficult or impossible to sell the Bonds on reasonable terms, or at all, due to, for example, severe price fluctuations, close down of the relevant market or trade restrictions imposed on the market.

Risks related to the market price of the Bonds

The market price of the Bonds could be subject to significant fluctuations in response to actual or anticipated variations in the Issuer's operating results and those of its competitors, adverse business developments, changes to the regulatory environment in which the Issuer operates, changes in financial estimates by securities analysts and the actual or expected sale of a large number of Bonds, as well as other factors. In addition, in recent years the global financial markets have experienced significant price and volume fluctuations, which, if repeated in the future, could adversely affect the market price of the Bonds without regard to the Issuer's business, operating result and/or financial position and thus the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations related to the Bonds.

Risks related to dependency on subsidiaries

A significant part of the Issuer's assets and revenues relate to its subsidiaries. The Issuer is thus dependent upon receipt of sufficient income and cash flow related to the operations of the subsidiaries. Consequently, the Issuer is dependent on the subsidiaries' availability of cash and their legal ability to make dividends which may from time to time be restricted by corporate restrictions and law. Should the Issuer not receive sufficient income from its subsidiaries, the investor's ability to receive payment under the Terms and Conditions may be adversely affected.

Risks related to change of control of the Issuer

Following any potential change of control in the Issuer, the Issuer may be controlled by a majority shareholder whose interest may conflict with those of the bondholders, particularly if the Issuer encounters difficulties or is unable to pay its debts as they fall due. A majority shareholder has legal power to control many of the matters to be decided by vote at a shareholder's meeting. For example, a majority shareholder will have the ability to elect the board of directors of the Issuer. Furthermore, a majority shareholder may also have an interest in pursuing acquisitions, divestitures, financings or other transactions that, in their judgment, could enhance their equity investments but might involve risks to the bondholders. There is nothing that prevents a shareholder or any of its affiliates from acquiring businesses that directly compete with the Issuer. If such an event were to arise, it could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's business, operating results and/or financial position. According to the Terms and Conditions, if a change of control event occurs, the bondholders have a right of prepayment of the Bonds (put option). There is a risk that the Issuer lacks liquidity to repurchase the Bonds if the bondholders were to exercise their right of prepayment. Please refer to "Risks related to early redemption and put options" for further information.

Risks related to the Bonds being unsecured

The Bonds constitute unsecured debt obligations of the Issuer. If the Issuer is subject to any foreclosure, dissolution, winding-up, liquidation, recapitalization, administrative or other bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, all of the Issuer's secured obligations must first be satisfied, potentially leaving little or no remaining assets in the Issuer for the bondholders. As a result, the bondholders may not recover any or full value. The bondholders will only have an unsecured claim against the assets (if any) in the Issuer for the amounts under or in respect of the Bonds, which means that the bondholders normally would receive payment (pro rata with other unsecured non-priority creditors) after any priority creditors have been paid in full. Each investor should be aware that by investing in the Bonds, they risk losing the entire, or part of, its investment in the event of the Issuer's liquidation, bankruptcy or re-organization. Further, the Issuer currently has outstanding secured debt. Consequently, an enforcement of security furnished under the secured obligations can have a material negative effect on the bondholders' recovery under the Bonds.

Risks related to the Issuer's subsidiaries, structural subordination and insolvency of subsidiaries

A significant part of the Issuer's assets and revenues relate to the Issuer's subsidiaries. The subsidiaries are legally separated from the Issuer and the subsidiaries' ability to make payments to the Issuer is restricted by, among other things, the availability of funds, corporate restrictions and law. Furthermore, in the event of insolvency, liquidation or a similar event relating to one of the subsidiaries, all creditors of such subsidiary would be entitled to payment in full out of the assets of such subsidiary before any entity within the Issuer, as a shareholder, would be entitled to any payments. Thus, the Bonds are structurally subordinated to the liabilities of the subsidiaries. The Issuer and its assets may not be protected from any actions by the creditors of any subsidiary of the Issuer, whether under bankruptcy law, by contract or otherwise. In addition, defaults by, or the insolvency of, certain subsidiaries of the Issuer could result in the obligation of the Issuer to make payments under the Issuer's financial or performance guarantees in respect of such subsidiaries' obligations or the occurrence of cross defaults on certain borrowings of the Issuer.

Risks related to security over assets granted to third parties

The Issuer may, subject to limitations, incur additional financial indebtedness and provide additional security for such indebtedness. In the event of bankruptcy, reorganization or winding-up of the Issuer, the bondholders will be subordinated in right of payment out of the assets being subject to security.

In addition, if any such third party financier holding security provided by the Issuer would enforce such security due to a default by any group company under the relevant finance documents, such enforcement could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's business, operational results and/or financial position, and thus the position of the bondholders.

Currency risks

The Bonds will be denominated and payable in SEK. If bondholders holding Bonds measure their investment return by reference to a currency other than SEK, an investment in the Bonds will entail foreign exchange-related risks due to, among other factors, possible significant changes in the value of the SEK relative to the currency by reference to which investors measure the return on their investments. This could decrease the effective yield of the Bonds to below their stated coupon rates and could result in a loss to investors when the return on the Bonds is translated into the currency by reference to which the investors measure the return on their investments. Government and monetary authorities may impose (as some have done in the past) exchange controls that could adversely affect an applicable exchange rate or the ability of the Issuer to make payments in respect of the Bonds. As a result, there is a risk that investors receive less interest or principal than expected, or no interest or principal at all.

Risks related to early redemption and put options

Under the Terms and Conditions, and as described in the term sheet for the Bonds, the Issuer has reserved the possibility to, under certain circumstances, redeem all outstanding Bonds during the period from the date falling 90 days before the final redemption date to the final redemption date. There is a risk that the market value of the Bonds is higher than the early redemption amount and that it may not be possible for bondholders to reinvest such proceeds at an effective interest rate as high as the interest rate on the Bonds and may only be able to do so at a significantly lower rate. According to the Terms and Conditions, the Bonds are subject to prepayment at the option of each bondholder (put options) if (i) the ordinary shares of the Issuer are being delisted from Nasdaq Stockholm or trading in the ordinary shares of the Issuer on Nasdaq Stockholm is suspended for a period of 15 consecutive business days (when Nasdaq Stockholm is at the same time open for trading), or (ii) the Bonds are not admitted to trading on the sustainable bond list on Nasdaq Stockholm within 60 days from the issue date, any subsequent bonds are not listed on the sustainable bond list on Nasdaq Stockholm within 20 business days from the relevant issue date or the Bonds ceases to be traded on the sustainable bond list on Nasdaq Stockholm (iii) an event or series of event occurs whereby one or more persons acting together, acquire control over the Issuer and where "control" means (a) acquiring or controlling, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the voting shares of the Issuer, or (b) the right to, directly or indirectly, appoint or remove the whole or a majority of the directors of the board of directors of the Issuer.

There is, however, a risk that the Issuer will not have sufficient funds at the time of such prepayment to make the required prepayment of the Bonds which could adversely affect the Issuer, e.g. by causing insolvency or an event of default under the Terms and Conditions, and thus adversely affect all bondholders and not only those that choose to exercise the option.

Risks related to no action against the Issuer and bondholders' representation

In accordance with the Terms and Conditions, a bondholders' agent (the "Agent") (being on the issue date Nordic Trustee & Agency AB (publ)) will represent all bondholders in all matters relating to the Bonds and the bondholders are prevented from taking actions on their own against the Issuer. Consequently, individual bondholders do not have the right to take legal actions to declare any default by claiming any payment from or enforcing any security granted by the Issuer and may therefore lack effective remedies unless and until a requisite majority of the bondholders agree to take such action. However, there is a risk that an individual bondholder, in certain situations, could bring its own action against the Issuer (in breach of the Terms and Conditions) which could negatively impact an acceleration of the Bonds or other action against the Issuer. To enable the Agent to represent bondholders in court, the bondholders and/or their nominees may have to submit a written power of attorney for legal proceedings. The failure of all bondholders to submit such a power of attorney could negatively affect the legal proceedings. Under the Terms and Conditions, the Agent will in some cases have the right to make decisions and take measures that bind all bondholders. Consequently, the actions of the Agent in such matters could impact a bondholder's rights under the Terms and Conditions in a manner that would be undesirable for some of the bondholders.

Risks related to bondholders' meetings

The Terms and Conditions include certain provisions regarding bondholders' meetings. Such meetings may be held in order to resolve on matters relating to the bondholders' interests. The Terms and Conditions will allow for stated majorities to bind all bondholders, including bondholders who have not taken part in the meeting and those who have voted differently to the required majority at a duly convened and conducted bondholders' meeting. Consequently, the actions of the majority in such matters could impact a bondholder's rights in a manner that would be undesirable for some of the bondholders.

Risks related to restrictions on the transferability of the Bonds

The Bonds have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or any U.S. state securities laws. Subject to certain exemptions, a holder of the Bonds may not offer or sell the Bonds in the United States. The Issuer has not undertaken to register the Bonds under the U.S. Securities Act or any U.S. state securities laws or to effect any exchange offer for the Bonds in the future. Furthermore, the Issuer has not registered the Bonds under any other country's securities laws. It is each potential investor's obligation to ensure that the offers and sales of Bonds comply with all applicable securities laws. Due to these restrictions, there is a risk that a bondholder cannot sell their Bonds as desired.

Risks associated with green bonds

The Bonds are defined as "green" according to the Hemfosa's applicable green bond framework as at the first issue date (the "Green Bond Framework"). The Green Bond Framework, as well as market practice for green bonds, may be amended and develop after the first issue date, thus affecting any the requirements applicable to Hemfosa in respect of any subsequent bonds. Amendments to the Green Bond Framework after the first issue date will not affect the conditions applicable to the Bonds issued as at the first issue date. Hemfosa's failure to comply with the Green Bond Framework does not constitute an event of default and would not permit bondholders to exercise any early redemption rights or receive any other type of compensation for non-compliance with the Green Bond Framework.

Risks related to third party certification

Hemfosa has appointed CICERO Center for International Climate Research ("Cicero") for an independent, research-based evaluation of the Green Bond Framework to determine its environmental robustness. This resulted in an external second opinion, dated April 26, 2019. Cicero is neither responsible for how the Green Bond Framework is implemented and followed up by investors, authorities (as applicable), organizations or other stakeholders, nor is it responsible for the outcome of investments in projects described as eligible projects in the Green Bond Framework. There is a risk that the suitability or reliability of any opinion issued by Cicero or another third party that may be held available in connection with an issue of Bonds can be questioned by Hemfosa, a potential investor, the bondholders or another third party. Further, such opinion or certificate will only be current on the date on which it is issued and could be deemed irrelevant at a later stage. Further, the providers of such opinions and certificates are currently not subject to any regulatory regime or other supervision and there is a risk that they will be deemed as not being reliable or objective in the future.

Risks related to the clearing and settlement in Euroclear Sweden's book-entry system

The Bonds will be affiliated to Euroclear Sweden's account-based system, hence no physical notes will be issued. Clearing and settlement relating to the Bonds will be carried out within Euroclear Sweden's book-entry system, as well as payment of interest and repayment of the principal. Investors are therefore dependent on the functionality of Euroclear Sweden's account-based system.

Risks related to amended or new legislation

The Terms and Conditions will be based on Swedish law in force at the date of issuance of the Bonds. There is a risk that amended or new legislation and administrative practices may adversely affect the investor's ability to receive payment under the Terms and Conditions.

Risks related to potential conflict of interest in relation to the Joint Bookrunners

The Joint Bookrunners may in the future engage in investment banking and/or commercial banking or other services for the Issuer in the ordinary course of business. Accordingly, conflicts of interest may exist or may arise as a result of such Joint Bookrunners having previously engaged, or engaging in the future, in transactions with other parties, having multiple roles or carrying out other transactions for third parties with conflicting interests.

Risks related to the rights of bondholders being dependent on the Agent's actions and financial standing

By subscribing for, or purchasing, or accepting the assignment of, any Bond, each holder of a Bond will accept the appointment of the Agent to act on its behalf and to perform administrative functions relating to the Bonds. The Agent shall have, among other things, the right to represent the holders of the Bonds in all court and administrative proceedings in respect of the Bonds. However, the rights, duties and obligations of the Agent as the representative of the holders of the Bonds will be subject to the provisions of the Terms and Conditions for the Bonds and the agency agreement, and there is no specific legislation or market practice in Sweden (under which laws the Terms and Conditions for the Bonds are governed) which would govern the Agent's performance of its duties and obligations relating to the Bonds. A failure by the Agent to perform its duties and obligations properly or at all may adversely affect the enforcement of the rights of the holders of the Bonds. Under the Terms and Conditions for the Bonds, the funds collected by the Agent as the representative of the holders of the Bonds must be held separately from the funds of the Agent and be treated as escrow funds to ensure that in the event of the Agent's bankruptcy, such funds can be separated for the benefit of the holders of the Bonds. However, there is a risk that such segregation of funds will not be respected by a bankruptcy administrator in case of the trustee's bankruptcy. Also, in the event the Agent would fail to separate the funds in an appropriate manner, the funds could be included in the Agent's bankruptcy estate. The Agent may be replaced by a successor bondholders' agent in accordance with the Terms and Conditions for the Bonds.

HEMFOSA FASTIGHETER AB (PUBL)

The board of directors

DESCRIPTION OF HEMFOSA

Business and operations

Hemfosa specializes in developing, managing and acquiring community service properties in the Nordic region. As per March 31, 2019 the value of Hemfosa's property portfolio corresponded to MSEK 36,943 of which community service properties accounted for 89 percent, making Hemfosa one of the largest private owners of community service properties in Sweden and a growing player in Norway and Finland. As of the same date, Hemfosa's property portfolio comprised 381 properties with leasable area of 2,059,000 square meters and the economic leasing rate was 94.4 percent. Hemfosa defines a property as a community service property if tenants who directly or indirectly are publicly financed account for at least 70 percent of the rental income. The properties include premises for schools, offices for public authorities and municipalities, judicial institutions such as the police and courts, as well as healthcare and care services. Hemfosa's business model is to combine long-term management of a growing property portfolio with project development, specialist know-how in community service properties, close and strong customer relationships and property transactions. The aim is to continue to develop and, using its own resources, to manage an extensive and balanced property portfolio with a stable and high yield through acquisitions and projects, and to increase the value of existing properties through continued development and improvement. The position as a specialized community service property company is intended to increase Hemfosa's competitiveness and Hemfosa's assessment is that the growth potential in the community service segment remains favorable through acquisitions and project development.

Hemfosa's mission is to engage in the long-term ownership, development and management of community service properties and to create value through active participation in a changing property market in order to generate long-term, high and stable profitability.

Hemfosa has set a growth strategy to achieve a property value of SEK 50 billion within five years, coupled with healthy profitability and continued low risk. The intention is to have a greater focus than before on a long-term approach and sustainability. Hemfosa's planned growth will be achieved through acquisitions and project development, where project development will represent an increasing share of Hemfosa's growth, accounting for about a third of growth during the period. As a step in its growth strategy, Hemfosa intends to increase its footprint and property portfolio in the Finnish market.

Hemfosa divides its community service property portfolio into four categories: public-sector offices, schools, health and care services and the judicial system. Hemfosa's property portfolio also includes commercial offices, meaning office properties where rental income is not predominantly publicly finances, primarily located in large high-grown municipalities.

- Public-sector offices

This category of properties comprises office premises in which the tenants conduct publicly funded operations. Public-sector offices is Hemfosa's largest category, where Hemfosa, as of December 31, 2018, owned 76 properties corresponding to a value of SEK 10.8 billion. As of the same date, the three largest tenants in this category were the Norwegian Labor and Welfare Administration, the Swedish Migration Agency and the Swedish Prison and Probation Service. As of December 31, 2018, this category had a leasing rate of 95 percent and an average lease length of 4.4 years.

- Schools

This category of properties comprises compulsory schools, senior high schools, colleges and universities. This is a property category where both municipal and private operators are active and which is publicly financed; for example, through school vouchers for comprehensive and senior high schools in Sweden. Material agreements

Except as described below, Hemfosa has not entered into any material contracts outside the ordinary course of its business which could have a material impact on its ability to meet its obligations under the Bonds.

Syndicated loans

Hemfosa Adrian HoldCo AB

A term loan facility agreement for approximately SEK 2.9 billion dated 28 March, 2018 has been concluded with, amongst others, Skandinaviska Enskilda Banken AB (publ) ("SEB") and Nordea Bank. The facilities may be utilised by Hemfosa Adrian Holdco AB ("Hemfosa Adrian") for the purpose of granting loans to the property-owning subsidiaries (downstream loans) for refinancing existing liabilities in the companies, for their general corporate needs and to finance/refinance approved investments/capital expenditure. Interest rates under the loan agreement are based on STIBOR plus a margin. The credit facilities granted hereunder fall due for payment on 28 March, 2023 and an amount of SEK 2,684,200,000 was outstanding under the facilities as per 31 March, 2019. The loan agreement contains customary terms and conditions, guarantees and obligations, and the terms and conditions are linked to a number of agreed financial covenants regarding, inter alia, obligations pertaining to loan-to-value ratio, interest service coverage ratio, minimum value of the property portfolio and equity/assets ratio. The agreement also contains obligations for the borrower to repay a specific amount of the credit facilities should a property or the shares or participations in a property-holding company be sold or otherwise disposed and to repay all credit facilities should someone (or a Group acting together) take control of more than 30 per cent of the shares and/or votes in the Issuer, or should the Issuer be delisted or no longer own all shares in Hemfosa Sverige AB, or should Hemfosa Sverige AB no longer own all shares in Hemfosa Adrian ("change of control"). There are also customary default provisions under the agreement, including a cross default if a default occurs in relation to financial indebtedness of the Issuer.

Hemfosa Alexander AB

A term loan facility agreement for approximately SEK 2.2 billion dated 15 December 2014 has been concluded with, amongst others, Danske Bank A/S, Danmark, Sverige filial ("Danske Bank"), Nordea Bank and Swedbank AB ("Swedbank") which may be utilised by Hemfosa Alexander AB for downstream loans to the property-holding companies. The terms and conditions of the loans are essentially those described above for Hemfosa Adrian. The credit facility falls due to payment on 27 March, 2023. The outstanding amount under the facility was SEK 2,431,600,000 as per 31 March, 2019.

Hemfosa Fyrklövern AB

A term loan facility agreement for approximately SEK 1.3 billion dated 23 August, 2018 has been concluded with, amongst others, Danske Bank and Storebrand Livsforsikring A/S which may be utilised by Hemfosa Fyrklövern AB for downstream loans to the property-holding companies. The facilities may be utilised by Hemfosa Fyrklövern AB for the purpose of granting loans to the property-owning subsidiaries (downstream loans) for refinancing existing liabilities in the companies and for the purpose of financing an acquisition of a target company by a property-owning subsidiary. The terms and conditions of the loans are similar to those described above for Hemfosa Adrian and Hemfosa Alexander AB. The credit facility falls due for payment on 23 August 2023. The outstanding amount was SEK 1,270,700,000 as per 31 March, 2019.

Bilateral loans

In addition to the aforementioned syndicated credits, subsidiaries of Hemfosa have been granted a number of bilateral loans, primarily to finance property acquisitions and construction credits for various construction projects, as well as for operational financing. Credit providers under these bilateral loans consist, in part, of Swedish creditors such as, Danske Bank, Nordea Bank, SEB, Svenska Handelsbanken AB (publ), Swedbank and Kisa Sparbank, and, in part, of non-Swedish lenders such as Danske Bank A/S and Husbanken AS. The total principal under these loans amounted to approximately SEK 12,673,000,000 as per 31 March, 2019.

A number of these loan agreements contain customary terms and agreements, guarantees and obligations for property loans of this type, including cross-default and change of control provisions, as well as financial covenants similar to those described above in relation to the loan agreement with Hemfosa Adrian. Limitations also apply to the payment of dividends by certain subsidiaries. Since these subsidiaries have only had a marginal impact on the Group's earnings historically, the limitations are not considered to have any significant impact on the Group's ability to pay dividends in accordance with Hemfosa's dividend policy. In conjunction with raising the loans, certain sureties and customary collateral have been provided in favor of certain credit providers.

- (h) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Finance Documents to the contrary, the Agent is not obliged to do or omit to do anything if it would or might in its reasonable opinion constitute a breach of any law or regulation.
- (i) If in the Agent's reasonable opinion the cost, loss or liability which it may incur (including reasonable fees to the Agent) in complying with instructions of the Bondholders, or taking any action at its own initiative, will not be covered by the Issuer, the Agent may refrain from acting in accordance with such instructions, or taking such action, until it has received such funding or indemnities (or adequate Security has been provided therefore) as it may reasonably require.

- (j) Unless it has actual knowledge to the contrary, the Agent may assume that all information provided by or on behalf of the Issuer (including by its advisors) is correct, true and complete in all aspects.
- (k) The Agent shall give a notice to the Bondholders (i) before it ceases to perform its obligations under the Finance Documents by reason of the non-payment by the Issuer of any fee or indemnity due to the Agent under the Finance Documents or the Agency Agreement, or (ii) if it refrains from acting for any reason described in Clause 20.2(i).

20.3 Limited liability for the Agent

- (a) The Agent will not be liable to the Bondholders for damage or loss caused by any action taken or omitted by it under or in connection with any Finance Document, unless directly caused by its negligence or wilful misconduct. The Agent shall never be responsible for indirect loss.
- (b) The Agent shall not be considered to have acted negligently if it has acted in accordance with advice from or opinions of reputable external experts addressed to the Agent or if the Agent has acted with reasonable care in a situation when the Agent considers that it is detrimental to the interests of the Bondholders to delay the action in order to first obtain instructions from the Bondholders.
- (c) The Agent shall not be liable for any delay (or any related consequences) in crediting an account with an amount required pursuant to the Finance Documents to be paid by the Agent to the Bondholders, provided that the Agent has taken all necessary steps as soon as reasonably practicable to comply with the regulations or operating procedures of any recognised clearing or settlement system used by the Agent for that purpose.
- (d) The Agent shall have no liability to the Bondholders or to the Issuer for damage caused by the Agent acting in accordance with instructions of the Bondholders to the Agent given in accordance with the Terms and Conditions.

- (e) The retiring Agent shall, at its own cost, make available to the successor Agent such documents and records and provide such assistance as the successor Agent may reasonably request for the purposes of performing its functions as Agent under the Finance Documents.
- (f) The Agent's resignation or dismissal shall only take effect upon the appointment of a successor Agent and acceptance by such successor Agent of such appointment and the execution of all necessary documentation to effectively substitute the retiring Agent.
- (g) Upon the appointment of a successor, the retiring Agent shall be discharged from any further obligation in respect of the Finance Documents but shall remain entitled to the benefit of the Finance Documents and remain liable under the Finance Documents in respect of any action which it took or failed to take whilst acting as Agent. Its successor, the Issuer and each of the Bondholders shall have the same rights and obligations amongst themselves under the Finance Documents as they would have had if such successor had been the original Agent.
- (h) In the event that there is a change of the Agent in accordance with this Clause 20.4, the Issuer shall execute such documents and take such actions as the new Agent may reasonably require for the purpose of vesting in such new Agent the rights, powers and obligation of the Agent and releasing the retiring Agent from its further obligations under the Finance Documents and the Agency Agreement. Unless the Issuer and the new Agent agrees otherwise, the new Agent shall be entitled to the same fees and the same indemnities as the retiring Agent.
